Capt. Von Helms to Command the St. Paul—Sidney Bell May Go Free—Dr. Vincent Threatens a Disclosure—Other News.

By Telegram to The Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 25.—(By the Associated Press.) The committee representing the organization of the Southern counties of the State, who are contemplating the erection of the Southern California building at the Midwinter Fair, spent all day at Golden Gate Park trying to select a site for their proposed structure.

Engineer O'Shaughnessy took them in charge and did his best to point out the most desirable tract. They returned home this evening in order to report progress at the joint meeting which takes place in Los Angeles tomorrow night.

Judging from the expressions made previous to their departure, they were well pleased with the prospect of getting a good location, and with the opportunity afforded for making an exhibit which will illustrate the special advantages of Southern California.

The committee from Northern California has already arranged with an architect to draw plans for their building.

TO COMMAND THE ST. PAUL.

Capt. Von Helms of the Newbern Gets a New Vessel.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 25.—(By the Associated Press.) Capt. Von Helms has been exonerated from all blame in connection with the loss of the steamer Newbern, and he will go out in command of the St. Paul.

It is reported that First Mate J. P. Gallagher has had his license revoked for carelessness. The inspectors refused to confirm the report this morning on the ground that the investigation had not been completed. At the time the Newbern was lost, Capt. von Helms was below, asleep, having been on duty during the preceding twenty-four hours. The commanding officer when he got into the heavy fog caused him to be charged as negligent.

Owing to some delay in getting the cargo on board the steamer St. Paul, she will not sail for Mexican ports until Friday. She was scheduled to leave tomorrow.

MAY GO FREE.

Sidney Bell's Attorneys File a Brief in the Supreme Court.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 25.—(By the Associated Press.) The attorneys for Sidney Bell, the highwayman now serving a sixty-year term at the State prison at Folsom, have filed a brief in the Supreme Court which is the first step toward securing Bell's release.

The grounds taken are that the indictments on which Bell was found guilty were not good, having been allowed to lapse and the cases to drop from the calendar. This was due to the fact that a murder charge was hanging over the prisoner, and on which it was expected to secure conviction. The prosecution being disappointed in this, charges of robbery were taken up and pressed. It is believed among lawyers that the conviction of Bell on a charge of murder would be extremely difficult, so that if the technical point is sustained, the footpad will be at liberty in the near future.

Dr. Vincent Said to Be Ready With Sensational Disclosures.

FRESNO, Oct. 25.—(By the Associated Press.) Dr. F. O. Vincent, the wife-murderer, has been informed by the Governor's refusal to interfere with his execution, and is preparing to die. The condemned man was visited today by hundreds of men and women. He is in good spirits, and says he is not afraid to die.

The execution will take place at noon on Friday. It is rumored that Vincent has drawn up a statement to be published after his death which is likely to cause quite a sensation. It is said that in it he will give a reason for his deed which will not only exonerate him, but which will compromise a prominent man here.

Efforts are being made to prevent Vincent giving this matter publicly, and if it would, even if discredited, leave a blot on his child.

WINFIELD (Kan.) Oct. 25.—(By the Associated Press.) Much excitement prevails here tonight over the unprovoked killing this afternoon of Capt. H. H. Silvard, an old settler, well known throughout the State, and lynching is not improbable.

During the melee somebody, supposed to have been Morton, fired a shot at Silvard. The latter fell, dying almost instantly from a wound in the head.

It was with unusual difficulty that the police kept the way clear for the Russians on the way from the station to the town hall. Many enthusiastic men and women broke through the lines and at the risk of their necks, rushed up to the carriages and kissed the hands extended by the Russian officers, while the multitude kept up a continual cry of cheers for the Czar and Russia.

The visitors were overwhelmed with presents, including twelve of the most costly dresses silk dresses for the Russian ladies, and quantities of French and Russian goods of the finest silk, and 2500 silk handkerchiefs, to be distributed among the Russian sailors.

REPUBLICANS.

Congressman Dalzell and Reed Make Characteristic Remarks.

BOSTON, Oct. 25.—(By the Associated Press.) The third annual dinner of the Republican Club of Massachusetts was held tonight. President Simpkins presided. At his right, sat Hon. Thomas B. Reed of Maine and Hon. J. Dalzell of Pennsylvania, and, at his left, Hon. Frederick T. Greenhalge and Hon. Roger Wolcott, candidates, respectively, for Governor and Secretary of State on the Republican ticket.

President Simpkins introduced as the first speaker Hon. F. T. Greenhalge of Lowell. Greenhalge was followed by Congressman John Dalzell of Pennsylvania. The latter said he was but a superficial observer, but imagined that the last election repudiated the principles of the Republican party. The people do not believe in free trade; they do not believe in a disbarment, in striking down the barriers put up for the protection of a free ballot, and that the tariff should be derived from revenue only. Mr. Dalzell concluded by paying a glowing tribute to Hon. Thomas Reed, who was the next speaker.

Four minutes of continuous applause welcomed Reed. He said: "As I take up this unblasted Boston Journal, the Herald, I notice the following line: President Cleveland victorious. Victorious over what? Victorious over the Democratic party? Fellow-citizens of Massachusetts, it behooves you, then, to consider the question. The victory, and the greatest praise we can give Grover Cleveland is to imitate him in his victory over his own party."

"For the first time in the history of the United States, sitting under the opprobrium of the people, for the first time in the history of the United States, subject to the flouts and jeers of all mankind. Massachusetts has to act quickly. No State is more interested in the tariff question than she. Democracy is ruled by the South, and by the South, I mean the men who have no idea of what is going on in the North. Truth is mighty, but so is ignorance. So I say we must fight out this right of the majority to rule."

Representative Lane of Illinois took the floor in opposition, and Mr. Kilgore of Texas also made a strong speech against the measure.

Pending further debate the House adjourned.

Owing to the lateness of the hour further particulars were not obtainable.

Relinquished His Claim.

A little case took place in Justice Austin's courtroom yesterday. Hugh Crawford, the attorney, chanced to learn that a man named Dan Grant had been arrested, and proceeded to interview Dan, who had deposited $500 bail. Crawford advised Grant to plead guilty to being drunk, as he would get off cheaper. Grant did so, and was not sent to jail. When Crawford learned of his bail-money, Crawford claimed it, and a lively dispute ensued. Grant declaring that he had not employed Crawford, while the attorney insisted that he had, and that he intended to keep her address secret, intimating she could not be found. So the mystery is as deep as ever.

WILL FIGHT.

Corbett and Mitchell Decide to Go on With Their Contest.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—(By the Associated Press.) It has been practically decided that the Corbett-Mitchell fight will come off anyhow. Mitchell has held a conference with Brady, Corbett's manager, and has decided to fight. The fight will take place, but it is thought that it will be in some Southern city. The time will probably be the same as was decided when it was thought the contest would be held at the Coney Island Club.

Mitchell left for Philadelphia immediately after his talk with Brady, and will go into training at once.

A NEW EPOCH.

This morning asked unanimous consent for the consideration of his resolution relating to the separation of the Independence and Visalia land districts of California. Representative Coffey withdrew his objection and the resolution passed.

Representative Coombs of New York created something of a sensation and some amusement by offering a resolution outlining a plan for a tariff bill and instructing the Ways and Means Committee to bring in a bill in accordance with its provisions. Representative Outwater insisted that the resolution be referred to the Ways and Means Committee, and it was so referred.

Representative Brosius of Pennsylvania by request introduced in the House a bill to establish gold currency and silver currency on a basis of interchangeability. It is one of the many schemes proposed to settle the financial question.

Representative McRae called up the bill for the protection of forest reservations, but the morning hour expired without a quorum appearing, and the debate on the bankruptcy bill was resumed.

Representative Lane of Illinois took the floor in opposition, and Mr. Kilgore of Texas also made a strong speech against the measure.

Pending further debate the House adjourned.

UNDER A NEW FLAG

Baseball Again in Competent Hands.

Successful Opening of the Vanderbeck Venture.

Many Old Favorites Back on the Home Diamond.

A Little Legacy From the Former Management Which Caused Some Delay in Opening the Game—Other Features.

Barring a little financial disturbance, a distinct legacy from ex-Magnate Lindley, the opening of the "midwinter baseball season" in this city yesterday was a success. The weather was fine, the game was very fine, and the enthusiasm superlative. The crowd would have been twice as large, except for the fact that the gates were not opened until nearly 3 o'clock, and many who had gone to the grounds early in the afternoon left under the impression that there would be no game. It was noted about the business portion of the city that the Oakland team had not arrived, which also kept many away who would have otherwise gone.

But, notwithstanding all these rumors which portended disaster to the new venture, the game was witnessed by more than an average crowd. All the old-timers were there, among them city officials, State officials, court officials and government officials. The supply of fans was also down from unofficial sources; in fact, everybody who likes the sport, could get away, and who enjoyed sunning themselves on the railroad track while ex-magnate Lindley's debts were being compromised, entered the gate with a rush as soon as it was opened. Even the peanut-vender waited outside with the crowd, and did quite a rushing business supplying nervous fans with chewing-gum and other fatal instruments for killing time.

Lindley, it seems, yet owes the athletic club $400 back rent for the use of the park. When Manager Vanderbeck, a week ago, wanted to lease the grounds, he was told by the athletic club and they sent him to the electric railway people. Vanderbeck leased the grounds from the latter, and paid for a month's rent in advance, for which he obtained a receipt. Tuesday, Vanderbeck heard that there might be some trouble before he would be allowed to play, and he telephoned Auditor Hammond of the electric railway, who succeeded Lindley as manager of the recently defunct Angels, and that gentleman replied that everything would be all right. But everything wasn't all right, and when Vanderbeck attempted to take charge under his lease, the ground-keeper refused to allow any entrance until the athletic club had been "seen" to the extent of $400. As Vanderbeck don't carry his safety-deposit vault with him, he couldn't settle the matter, even if he had the money. There was hurrying and scurrying to the electric power-house, and telephoning all over the city. Time was flying, and fans were accumulating on the grounds. There was indignation and disappointment in several different languages. Many became so hot that they paid the electric company an extra nickel to carry them away. Finally, the gate-keeper, upon orders from some one, opened the grounds, and the waiting crowd was admitted. Those who know the circumstances in regard to Vanderbeck's former experiences with the grounds, much feeling was expressed at the evidence of attempt to again kill the baseball goose.

THE GAME.

As heretofore mentioned the game was a good one. Vanderbeck has a team now that not only knows how to play ball, but plays it. And the Oakland team is no slouch, either. In fact, the fans can now enjoy some of the best Eastern baseball in the city. It is right at their very doors, so to speak. The new Los Angeles team contains, without doubt, the best young stock of the National League, and the Oakland nine, as it appeared yesterday, has among its members such men as George Van Haltren, Jerry Denny and Lew Hardie.

Of course there were other features beside the Lindley part of it yesterday. There was Tom Parrott's batting, Tom, as every one knows, is a good deal of a monkey in his actions, and when he got to the plate he had a time with the ball. Out of four chances he hit three, and made four hits, one of them a three-bagger. Another feature was the pitching of Oakland's little Jack Horner in the fourth inning. Glenavlin, who had McKinnon each struck at the first ball pitched, batting each one to pitcher, who assisted the first baseman in putting the runners out in succession.

Two double plays were also features, one by each side, the work being done so quick and clean as to elicit long applause from the enthusiastic bleachers. Jim McDonald, who expects to umpire in the National League next year, is a standing feature and need scarcely be mentioned. His decisions are never questioned, for the boys well know that he is the only man who ever whipped Corbett.

Taken all in all the game was just such a one as the fans want to see. There was ginger all around, with here and there an error and there was earnestness about the whole thing as if the boys had come to California for the winter and intended to make an honest living while here. Vanderbeck has a few "shy" yet on the team, but Tredway is now en route from San Francisco, and Decker will be here by the 1st of November. "God Boy" Jimmy Stafford has also promised to come, but he has been getting such a good salary back East that he wants to see this California venture successful before showing himself again at the scene of his early triumphs. He'll also be coming out here in a few weeks.

THE SCORE.

The score is not exactly as it should have been, but it will prove to those who went home too early to get good seats, that there was a game played at Athletic Park, and a good one at that. It is given here both for publication and as an evidence of good faith on the part of both clubs to play the balance of the week, beginning at 2:30 each afternoon. It reads as follows:

THE SELLING CIRCUS.

J. F. Boynton, representing Sells & Rentfro's circus, yesterday called at the Times office to protest against the statements to the effect that toughs and pickpockets were harbored or encouraged by the proprietors of his show. He did not attempt to defend the action of the circus in this city in selling more reserved seat tickets than they had chairs for, or in attempting to give two performances in one evening, but insisted that this was not done with the consent of the owners. He said that while the show was a small one, they charged a low admission fee, and that the people got what they paid for. The circus, he said, expects to winter in Southern California, and the proprietors want the good-will of the people, as they are trying to build up a business, and have been playing in hard luck. He promised that there would be no repetition of the offenses complained of, and showed letters from the authorities of Santa Ana, Santa Monica, and other smaller towns, that there had been no deprecations by the circus people at those places, and that they had conducted themselves in an orderly manner.

IN THE POLICE COURT.

In the Police Court, yesterday, Lorenzo Martinez was arraigned for burglary, and his preliminary examination set for today. On Tuesday night he met Officer Valencia and confided to him that he had taken a watch from the room of a man whom he knew. Officer Valencia thought it a good idea to send the man in, and did so. At the police station, the watch was identified as one which belonged to a man who had been in for being drunk the day before. James Kelly was arraigned for petty larceny, and his examination was set for today.

Charles Schofield, A. L. Myers and F. J. Crowley, who had been arrested the night before while they were raising, more or less, with a drunken fight in front of the Olympic saloon on First street. The defendants pleaded guilty, "to save time," and were fined $8 each.

THE DEVIL ON TRIAL.

The No. 2 Court of the Salvation Army of this city, situated on the corner of First and Spring streets, have decided to "bring the devil to trial before a judge and jury, and try him on a formal indictment which had been found against him." Sergt.-Maj. Hart of Pasadena is to be the prosecuting attorney and Capt. Banks, in charge of the corps here, will be for the defense. The defense will be strictly biblical, as only scriptural laws are applicable.

The captain will lay aside his uniform and don civilian clothes for the occasion, and will try to show that those who served the devil got all they deserved, and that Satan's servants always find him reliable, etc.

The witnesses who say they knew the devil will be cross-questioned in detail, to show that there is pleasure in serving Satan. The public is invited.

Taken all in all the game was just such a one as the fans want to see. There was ginger all around, with here and there an error and there was earnestness about the whole thing as if the boys had come to California for the winter and intended to make an honest living while here. Vanderbeck has a few "shy" yet on the team, but Tredway is now en route from San Francisco, and Decker will be here by the 1st of November. "God Boy" Jimmy Stafford has also promised to come, but he has been getting such a good salary back East that he wants to see this California venture successful before showing himself again at the scene of his early triumphs. He'll also be coming out here in a few weeks.

IN advertising blankets we advertise blanket bargains. We call your attention to one or two extra good values for $3 and $3.50. The large sales the past two days is an indication that blankets when sold right, are sold freely. The blankets we offer are more than ordinary good bargains—more than ordinary good values, and are more than ordinarily cheap. Blankets for $1, $1.50, $2, $2.50, $3, $3.50; 1000 pair of blanket bargains. Two thousand people can sleep under these blanket bargains, and can thank their stars for the comfort they afford, at least 150 nights in the year. You get more good solid comfort out of a good healthy sleep than you do out of a good square meal. Why not look at these blanket blanket bargains? $1.50, $2, $2.50, $3, $3.50 up, up, up, a little higher if you want them. Blankets are selling, they are selling freely. In place of selling four yards of Black Figured Sateens for $1, we sell you six yards today; extra choice styles, fine twill, fast black, at least 50 per cent. under regular value. And yet we offer a better value in a yard wide Cashmere twill figured, in all colors, for 16½c a yard. A better value in Ladies' Jersey Ribbed Underwear you never saw for 50c. In a number of instances we have advised ladies after buying to take these goods and compare them with any 75-cent quality in the market, and if they were not equal in every respect, to return ours and get their money. This comparison of our 50c goods to be made with any 75-cent quality in the city. In every instance our goods were kept. We do not claim a Royal Worcester Corset is as good as any other make; it is better. The Royal Worcester possesses features that no other corset has. Take the new high bust Royal Worcester Corset, it is the largest waisted, high bust corset in the market; it has the fullest bust; most all high bust corsets are too narrow, and run more to a point. This corset is full and rounded; it is fuller under the arms and more rounding at the top; it has the break or hinge in the back that allows the corset to set in more closely at the top, both in front and back, and any lady when she sees this new high bust Royal Worcester Corset can see at a glance that it has more real merit than all the other high bust corsets combined. Talk about Corset Waists, when you see the new Royal Worcester Waist you will see improvements that no other waist possesses; that is what the Royal Worcester people study, improvements. When a manufacturer says he don't want to make a better corset than what he has been making, he is retrograding. When a doctor says he knows all he wants to know, it is time to send him his wings, and there should be plenty of feathers in them to enable him to fly more rapidly. The Worcester Corset Company never reaches perfection; they are always improving; they formulate their own ideas, and improve upon the ideas of others. The result is they have attained superiority in corset making. When you buy a Royal Worcester you buy the best. And now a word about cloaks. One price, plain figures, square treatment, money refunded on unsatisfactory purchases. No one can do better than that, and we do it. We conduct this business upon a basis that will merit confidence, and we do as we say we will in our advertisement; we don't hesitate; don't ask annoying questions; all we ask is to return the goods in good condition, and you may have your money; not only in one department but in every department. You can't get cheated; you can't be mistreated. One clerk in the house said Mr. Sheward had very good ideas of business, but he never would be able to carry them out. That man is walking the streets today, and another man who will carry out the ideas of Mr. Sheward has taken his place at a good comfortable salary. This is the easiest and most comfortable house in the city to work in, when employees carry out the instructions given. It is the hardest and most uncomfortable house to work in when the employees ignore his instructions, and undertake to conduct the business to suit himself. And the trade of the house is growing, not slowly, but rapidly; it is growing upon a safe and sound basis. A big lot of new goods today. Come to a live house doing a live business; a house that is showing a big increase in trade. More of those big shoe bargains at $1.50, worth from $3 to $6.50.

FIREMEN LAID OFF.

Four Men Suspended by the Chief.

He Says They Failed to Do Their Duty

In Fighting the Fire in the Stowell Block.

The Charges Investigated by the Commissioners, and Action Deferred for One Week—Routine Business.

The Fire Commission met yesterday with the full board present.

J. H. Meyers was heard on a petition from himself for permission to erect a corrugated iron building for a shooting gallery on the vacant lot on Main street, near Second street. The petition was filed.

The chief reported as follows:

"From careful investigation and from my own personal knowledge I find that the members of the fire department herein have shown themselves unfit to do good fire duty on many occasions, and I have dropped the following named from the roll subject to your approval: John Garvey, driver hook and ladder company; W. R. Price, Germania hook and ladder company; George Flood, callman engine company No. 4; J. B. Stowell, callman engine company No. 5.

"I have placed on trial in lieu of these men, George O. Donnell, as driver of the hook and ladder company, and Frank E. Lewis as callman of the Germania hook and ladder company. I have also placed on trial in lieu of these men, George O. Donnell, as driver of the hook and ladder company, and Frank E. Lewis as callman of the Germania hook and ladder company.

"The chief reported further that he had ordered a new hydrant placed at Third and Crocker streets and had the hydrant at Grand avenue and Seventh street moved back to the line of the sidewalk.

Action on the suspensions and appointments was temporarily deferred. The remainder of the report was filed.

A petition for a five-horse power boiler and engine at Nos. 233 and 235 San Pedro street was referred to the chief with power to act.

The demands were approved, including the department pay-roll.

An application from A. M. Grant for appointment as engineer was filed.

The city electrician presented a report recommending the purchase of one eight-circuit repeater and one eight-circuit switchboard, eight galvanometers, six printers and four gongs, together with specifications for the same; also ten non-interfering boxes.

On motion Commissioner Kuhrtis it was recommended to the Council to purchase fire alarm apparatus in accordance with the recommendation of the electrician.

The matter of the report of the chief in reference to suspensions and appointments was then considered.

Commissioner Kuhrtis argued that there should be no action taken in the case until the parties suspended could be given a hearing.

Commissioner Kuhrtis said that specific charges should be presented.

The hearing was then begun and John Garvey of the hook and ladder company was called to the stand and then helped stretch the police ropes. He next started to assist in getting the ladders up, but a number of men working at that job. He went inside the building, but as there was nothing he could do there he came outside again.

Assistant Chief McMahon stated that when he got there he found the team tied up, and that Garvey did not seem to be doing anything.

To this Garvey replied that he did all he knew how. During the present administration he had, however, had but one drill.

Assistant Chief McMahon said there had been three drills.

A. C. Vignone testified that two men could raise the ladder. He and another man had done so, but Garvey stated that two men unaided could not lift them.

The assistant chief said the ladders were in proper order for he had raised them himself.

W. R. Price denied that he had been guilty of neglect. When he got everything in readiness to raise the ladders he found men turning the crank the wrong way. He then ordered the callman he did the best he could to free the ladders from the wires. He oiled the machinery once each week. He had lost his badge, but had not refused to give it up.

The assistant chief stated in reference to this that the screw was rusted, and the clevis of the chain was in such a condition that it could scarcely be turned.

Mr. Webb of the firm of Hanna & Webb said the screw was not rusted, and should not be censured. There were, he said, not enough men there to get the ladders up.

Being interrogated by Commissioner Wirsching, Price said he did not get any orders from the chief or assistant. He had obeyed the orders of the administrator as presented to him.

J. B. Stowell, against whom it was charged that he had, on a number of occasions, been guilty of neglect of duty, and especially that he had handled the shut-off nozzle improperly, said he had made an error with the nozzle, but could prove that he had done good fire duty especially at the fire in question. The men of his (the Ninth street) company got a stream of water on the fire as quickly as anybody could, when the distance was considered.

Charles Fair said he had seen Stowell do good work at the fire in question.

The next man called in was George Flood, a callman of engine company No. 5. He was the one whom Assistant McMahon claimed had carried an axe around on his shoulder at the Stowell Block fire, and also that he would not take hold of a hose when asked.

Flood said he did not have an axe as stated, and that at the time helping to get water into the building. He had always obeyed orders, and said that in this case he did not get any until after the fire. The order then was simply to take up No. 4's hose.

J. C. Johnson was heard. Assistant McMahon claimed that he had scarcely helped at all in getting the hose up stairs. Johnson said he did not have anything to do with the inside line, but assisted a hose up the fire escape and through a window. He had not disobeyed orders.

this crew and its members should be drilled at least once a week.

On motion of Commissioner Kuhrtis it was ordered that the water tower be taken off the hook and ladder truck temporarily.

Commissioner Kuhrtis argued that it would be well to suspend the men for another week. It would, he thought, be well to stir up the department occasionally.

Commissioner Wirsching was in favor of imposing a fine and putting the men right back to work. He thought the men really did good work at the fire except in getting the ladders up, which trouble was due to the absence of the callmen.

The commission held a short session in the afternoon, at which, on motion of Commissioner Kuhrtis, the action of the chief in suspending the several members of the department was sustained, with the understanding that the men should remain suspended till the next meeting of the board at which time action in the matter should be taken.

WRITING PUFFS.

The Real Value of Reading Notices.

Their Connection With Display Advertising—The Evils of Over-puffing—How to Write a Business-bringing Reading Item.

BY NATHANIEL C. FOWLER, JR., Doctor of Publicity.

The man who wrote the first advertisement bamboozled the editor in writing a puff about it.

Puffs are both legitimate and illegitimate methods of advertising.

A puff never has taken, and never can take, the place of a displayed advertisement.

There is something dispiriting about a puff which does not jingle happily in the ears of intelligent readers.

People believe in being square, whether they are or not, and some of them respect the man who does his own business over his own name, and does not crawl under the shadow of the local callmen.

But the puff has its value, if there's something in the puff beside puffing.

The bald-headed, absolutely hairless puff, which says something in such a disagreeable way that no one believes it because he despises the man who wrote it and the man for whom it is written, is worth something less than nothing.

Advertising space in good newspapers is merchandise, and so is reading column space. The paper which promises all sorts of things to advertisers, which over-opens its reading columns to them, is the paper in which advertising space, as well as reading matter, is worth comparatively little. While reasonable liberality by no means is an indication of weakness on the part of the newspaper, the quality of a newspaper can be somewhat reckoned upon its unwillingness to print puffs and reading notices. The paper which runs reading notices all through its columns is generally a paper in which advertising space is not worth much, for if it were, there would not be so much space used for that purpose. The advertiser has no right to demand unlimited reading notices any more than is the editor justified in demanding when purchasing a barrel of flour that the retailer throw in a keg of pickles as a premium.

Every good newspaper will discriminate in its regular advertising, and is always willing to print new items.

A puff, to be of any real value, must contain sufficient news, or legitimate reading matter, to make it interesting to the reader, with the puffery part incidental, a part and parcel of the general whole, which could not well be left out, and yet apparently was not forced into the notice.

A puff reading, Brown's molasses is the best, has some value, because it tells about Brown and his molasses, but there is no argument in it. It is as good as a puff, but it is not as manly, and not as forcible. If Mr. Brown writes himself, or has the editor write for him, a reading notice like the following, people are likely to read it, appreciate it, and buy the molasses.

"It is peculiar," said Mr. Brown, the North avenue grocer, "how people in different sections of the town use different brands or grades of molasses. The South Side people, almost to a woman, buy only New Orleans molasses, probably the most wholesome, and in every respect the purest and sweetest, molasses made, and yet the majority of people on the North Side, who are as wealthy and intelligent, and who are supposed to have as good appetites and as refined tastes, prefer Porto Rico molasses, which certainly is pure enough, and has a more 'molasses' flavor, if I may speak that way, and is a great many respects better for cooking purposes. The only explanation I can give is that South Side people use molasses for cooking largely, and buy something else for syrup. These two lines of molasses are really the only kinds which people ought to prize. Other brands sold by some of the dealers in the city, would never be swallowed if people knew how they were made and put together."

This item gives people the idea that Brown controls the molasses business of the city. It presents advice, and is rather amusing, but it does not in any way apparently advertise Brown's molasses.

An item like the following is worth something, but not much.

Have you seen the Fall dress goods at Jones's? They beat anything in town.

How much better it would be to say something like this:

There is a mathematical inclined young lady behind the dress goods counter at Jones's. She has figured that the dress goods now in stock, which comprise twenty-eight varieties, would spread out on the sidewalk, reach from here to Brownville, seven and a half miles away.

This item, although not by any means brilliant and unusually interesting, will be read with some attention, because it is mathematical, speaks of a clerk, and tells of the varieties of patterns and the extent of stock.

A retailer has a new invoice of furniture. He advertises it, and asks the editor to print the following item:

Have you seen the new furniture at Smith Bros. the finest in the town, first class in every respect? Chamber sets, parlor suits, dining-room sets, odd chairs, and everything in the furniture line. Prices lower than ever.

An item like this is simply a conglom-erated description. It is not as good as a displayed advertisement. How much better it would be for the retailer to single out some particular thing, and write something interesting about it. For instance, the following item is not very bad:

"Folks are going to have an easy time of it this winter," said Mr. Smith, of Smith Bros. "I have sold to Crescent avenue people this week sixteen of our adjustable library chairs."

The following conventional item is about up to the average:

The Union Stove. It is the greatest coal-saver on earth.

People are simply tired of items like that. They pass them over, and perhaps are less likely to buy the stove. In articles of domestic economy never quote anything but fact. Here is unanswerable argument:

Mr. William R. Black, head clerk at Cushing's dry goods store, burned three and seven-eighths tons of coal winter before last in a large Albany-made parlor stove, which was supposed to be the most economical stove on the market. Last fall he purchased of Curtis Bros. a Union Stove, the handsomest stove he ever saw, and he burned just two and three-quarters tons.

This item is a puff—a direct one, and comes under the general criticism that puffs of this style are not advisable, and this would not be if the name of a person was not mentioned, and an unquestionable statement given.

The following puff, when straw hats are not worn, is liable to be profitable:

Dr. Pierre, the great French scientist, says that 90 per cent of baldheadness is caused by wearing unventilated cloth hats, and that the use of little holes in the top of sides. An inventor in Trenton, N. J., has made a ventilating sweater, which keeps the head as cool as a straw hat, and is in no way clumsy. Harrison & Son, the hat-makers, will without extra charge put this sweater into every hat they sell. (Copyright 1893 by the Trade Company, Boston.)

RIVERSIDE COUNTY.

A Decision in Regard to the New County Road.

The thorough discussion of the matter of a new county road eastward from the city toward the center of the county, to take the place of the present Box Springs road, seems to have resulted at last in a decision by the county supervisors which may soon secure the desired highway. The proposition as submitted by C. O. Perrine and accepted by the supervisors, provides for the road to be a strip 100 feet wide through sections 29, 23 and 33, in township 3 south, range 24 west, according to map submitted.

Mr. Perrine gives with the deed to the land such material consisting of stone, gravel, and sand, as may be needed, to be taken from the land adjoining, provided there is no disfiguring or injuring of the land by so doing.

The condition of the road is to be graded to a width of forty feet within six months, and that, when a franchise is given over the road for a railway, neither horse nor steam shall be used, and the company getting such franchise shall build the road promptly, from all parts of the county come a demand for this road, and it should be built promptly.

RIVERSIDE BREVITIES.

Mrs. C. C. Condon was examined for insanity Wednesday and committed to the asylum by Judge Campbell. She was taken thence by Deputy Sheriff Robinson.

On Wednesday evening at "The Anchorage," a parlor social, musicale and dance was given by the ladies of All Saints' Episcopal Church. The proceeds of the social are for placing the new memorial window in the church.

On Thursday evening the ladies of All Souls' Universalist Church will give a New England supper at the church, which could not well be left out, and yet apparently was not forced into the notice.

R. W. Bolten, whose time has expired as postmaster at Murietta, this county, has been superseded by D. H. Connell. Mr. Bolten was a Republican and Mr. Connell a Democrat, and the latter was recommended by the Democratic County Central Committee.

Because of alleged cruelty Mrs. Annie L. Pearson has begun legal proceedings against her husband, A. E. Pearson, for divorce and custody of their child. The case came up while Judge Campbell was occupying the bench in the Superior Court, and a demurrer was overruled and ten days given for answer.

John M. Rhodes has begun proceedings against F. W. Swopes, as Sheriff, for damages because of his taking under mortgage foreclosure the furniture of his house, which was mortgaged, and his house and lot upon the real estate mortgage.

Nearly all the gutters along the streets through the business part of town were closed during the past week and put in good condition to carry off the water for the winter rains, already set in.

The Riverside Banking Company has lost another suit at law. In the action brought by the company against Shirley C. Ward of Los Angeles to recover the sum of $10,000, the jury in favor of defendant. Ward had performed a contract with the Improvement company by which the note was cancelled.

The Farmer's Resolve.

I seen an advertisement in a city magazine Of some new patent medicine—they called it Tiredness—

And said a quart—ten doses—was the sure kind of cure For them who inclinations for to work was rather poor.

It seems to me that that's the stuff for me to go and buy And sort of make him spry. He needs a 'burr' 'burr' 'burr' up when hay-time comes around, 'Uthoo' when fish is runnin' good he's pretty sick an' sound.

I dunno why it is that boy kin take a heavy walk from ten to twenty miles 'n' think he's havin' fun. But when he's a 'burr' 'burr' 'burr' for to do that's in the plowin' line He doesn't even seem to have the symptoms of a spine.

He'll take in all the plectras, an' he'll work like all possessed At pushin' scraps for country girls, but never has no chest When 't comes to tossin' up the hay or gatherin' in the wheat— The very idea of that seems to knock him off his feet.

An' so I think I'll go to town an' sample that there stuff. And when I buy a lot for Tom—one bottle ain't enough. Ten doses may suffice to put an average man in trim. But, Tom—I think I'll hatter get a dozen quarts for him.

Supervisor Hanly Says That He is Not "in the Bucket Business." Petitions Heard and Disposed of—Other Business.

In regular session the Board of Supervisors met yesterday morning at 9 o'clock, present Supervisors Hay, Haw, Afterwiesco and Forrester, the latter presiding.

After the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting, the District Attorney and chairman of the board, reported as to the condition of the county funds as found by them at their last count. The report showed that there should be in the treasury $227,514.03. That amount was short $22,910.99, the sum involved in the City Bank failure.

A committee representing the free labor bureau, appeared before the board to ask that an additional amount of money per month be allowed the bureau in order that more advertising could be done, and the knowledge of the work of the office be more thoroughly disseminated. The chairman of the committee stated that the amount of money per month was $100, and $20, in addition to the $80 already allowed by the supervisors. The matter went over for disposition.

board looked a little askance at this in a somewhat insinuating manner, and there was a general hesitancy manifest about seconding the motion.

Supervisor Hanly was not slow to notice this, and he at once exclaimed: "Don't second the motion unless you want to; I am not in the bucket business, but we have not enough water at the hospital or farm to put out a fire, and I wish to place myself on record as being desirous of providing the necessary safeguards."

Even then no second came to the motion.

Supervisor Hanly looked at the clock. "I move we adjourn," he said. "The meeting stands adjourned until 2 o'clock," ordered Supervisor Forrester, and the little scene ended.

When the matter was again broached at the afternoon session, Supervisor Hanly stated that he had no motion to make, when Supervisor Francisco moved that two and one-half dozen extinguishers be purchased. The motion was carried.

IN OLD AGE.

Price Found Marriage a Failure.

One Year's Experience Was Quite Enough.

The Wife Wants Alimony from the Old Man.

A Supreme Court Decision in a San Francisco Case—Cases Submitted—Routine Work of the Department—New Suits.

On a motion for alimony, Judge Shaw called up the case of Price vs. Price yesterday afternoon. The parties to the action are 56 and 75 years of age, respectively, the husband being the older. The quer part of the proceeding is that the couple have only been married for about one year. Price was paralyzed and crippled when the marriage took place, and yesterday it required about five minutes for him to shuffle along in a tedious manner to the witness-chair. He appeared generally decrepit, but possessed the full power of his faculties, and gave distinct and explicit replies to the queries put to him. The case was altogether a pitiful one. Price said that he lived at Compton, where he owned a small tract of land. His present wife, the plaintiff in the case, had lived at his house for some years before he married her. She was a nurse at that time, and earned $10 a week. He thought that she was able-bodied. "Anyhow," he said, with childlike innocence, "she eats heartily enough."

The court asked the witness if he was paralyzed when he got married, a year ago, and Price said that he was. Judge Shaw then stated that he would refuse to grant the motion for alimony until he had seen the evidence in the main cause, notwithstanding the plea of counsel for the plaintiff, for it was quite evident that the old man had all that he could do to look out for himself.

A SAN FRANCISCO CASE. The Supreme Court yesterday rendered a decision in the case of Michael Carraher, respondent, vs. San Francisco Bridge Company.

The action was one to recover damages for a personal injury received by the plaintiff through the alleged negligence of the defendant. The cause was brought by a jury, evidence of $1000 being rendered for plaintiff. The defendant appealed from this judgment, and the usual order denying a motion for a new trial was made. The case was, upon former appeal from a similar judgment, when it was reversed on the ground of error in instruction to the jury.

The defendant had a contract with the Board of Harbor Commissioners to construct a section of the seawall on the water front at San Francisco, which, among other things, required the defendant to fill with sand and rocks a strip between the wall and shore. The rock was hauled from Telegraph Hill. Cummings & Co. had a sub-contract with the defendant to furnish a portion of it, and employed the plaintiff as one of the teamsters. While the plaintiff was returning with the horse and cart he was driving, after having delivered a load of rock, he crossed a railroad track at a point where the latter ran along the water front. A car of a sand and gravel company, owned by plaintiff, was thrown out, breaking his wrist.

The judgment of the lower tribunal finding for plaintiff is sustained by the Supreme Court.

STILL ON TRIAL. The case of robbery, in which William and Martin Devine and Clyde Sheets figure as defendants, was still on trial yesterday in Department One, before Judge Smith and a jury. The prosecution closed its side at 9 o'clock, and the first witness was called for the defense. Attorney McComas, in outlining what he expected to prove, said that he would put on witnesses who would testify that the defendants were located remote from the scene of the robbery, when Charley Fook was relieved of his $23 in coin.

It is expected that the cause will be continued to tomorrow and a verdict reached by this afternoon.

THE SUPREME COURT. Following were the cases submitted yesterday to the Supreme Court: Smith, appellant, vs. Ellis, respondent; Fallbrook Irrigation District, respondent, vs. Abila, appellant; Northern County Investment Trust, appellant, vs. Cadman et al., respondents; Brown, appellant, vs. Kling, respondent; Anaheim Union Water Company, respondent, vs. Parker et al., appellants; Montgomery, respondent, vs. Santa Ana Water Company, appellant; Egner, appellant, vs. Juch Opera Company, respondent; La Fieto, respondent, vs. Gleason et al., appellants. CORRAN'S LOS ANGELES CITY DIRECTORY. We have moved our office from No. 103 South Broadway to a commodious quarters at No. 231 West First street.

Appreciating the large number of visitors to the Southern metropolis during the season of the California Midwinter Fair, and the desire and necessity for an early directory, special arrangements have been made, and no expense spared, to make Corran's Los Angeles City Directory for 1894, the best of the city has ever had.

Corran's Los Angeles City Directory has been published since 1887, and is the only reliable and authentic directory of Los Angeles and its environs. The direction of thoroughly efficient and reliable management, will be published and printed in this city, and is entirely a home industry. Due to its high standard of accuracy, it is the most reliable of all directories. It is the only directory of Los Angeles, and is the only directory of the city of Los Angeles, and is the only directory of the city of Los Angeles.

In many of the large cities in which reliable directories are established, responsible parties are constantly soliciting advertisements and subscriptions for so-called directories. We respectfully warn our patrons and the public against these cheap and worthless directories, and request that they be closely examined to see that they call for Corran's Los Angeles City Directory. It is unnecessary to individualize.

Corran's Los Angeles City Directory has been established in this city since 1887, and is here to stay, has merited and received liberal patronage, for which the management takes this opportunity to express thanks and appreciation.

On the corner of No. 231 West First street, we have San Francisco, Pacific Coast and Eastern directories for the use and convenience of our patrons.

21 YEARS' CONTRACT OBTAINED. The Southern Pacific Railroad Company gave to Wells, Fargo & Co., San Francisco, Oct. 25.—Considerable anxiety has been created to know who will get the contract from the Southern Pacific Railroad Company for the exclusive express rights on their line. Many companies were in the field against the Wells-Fargo Company. Yesterday it was awarded to the latter-named company for twenty-one years. They were to have the exclusive right to conduct all that clothes the company's officers use must be ordered at Gordon Bros., tailors, No. 118 South Spring street, Los Angeles, Cal., as they make the best-fitting clothes at very close prices.

THE EAST SIDE.

The Tree-trimming Crusade in Full Blast—General Notes.

W. F. Anderson and family of Chicago are the latest additions to the local population. They were yesterday located by a Downey-avenue agent, in Mr. Galbrath's house, at No. 720 Vallejo street.

Chief of Police J. M. Glass was a visitor to the East Side yesterday, and impressed the citizens, who beheld him with a new sense of his greatness from a purely physical point of view.

Local society appears in a state of stagnation, the only events for months being the regular Monday evening meetings of the Whist Club, and an occasional dance. The given under the auspices of the East Side Social Club or the A.O.U.W. As the season advances, however, it is hoped that social life will revive somewhat.

George Trumaine's crusade is being carried on with vigor, and from the main lateral streets the police are now busy with property-owners on the short side streets and drives. Some good work was yesterday being done on South Truman street, which will be thoroughly appreciated by pedestrians.

A gentleman recently came down from San Francisco, brings tidings of a former East-Sider, who was at least well known. The name of A. H. Hutchinson is, or at least was, familiar to almost every one over here, as was also the story of his marriage and subsequent desertion of his wife, nee Sidenstricker.

Commonly known, was seen in the Northern metropolis, wearing the cap and uniform of a postal telegraph messenger, and is, or was at that time, in the employ of the United Press. Those who know him, and remember his peculiar appearance, will readily see how little disguise would be required to conceal his thirty-odd years, in the garb and semblance of a boy in his teens.

Ask an Extension. Frick Bros. have filed the following communication to the City Council: "We desire to ask of your honorable body for a second extension of time of thirty days from November 1 next in which to complete section 9 of the outfall sewer. We are, however, entitled to the extension as prayed for upon the grounds that His Honor, the Mayor, neglected to affix his signature to the contract for more than ten days after said contract was approved by your honorable body, hence the cutting short of the time specified for the completion."

At the Mayor's office it was learned that the delay in the signing of the contract was not due to neglect, but was owing to the fact that the signature was withheld pending some changes in the route of the section in question.
